Chef and the culinary team create modern Italian cuisine that prizes authenticity, refined quality and sustainability. Listed in the MICHELIN guide Shanghai 2020, the culinary team keeps delivering the best of the best.

The delightful gastronomic experience at La Scala is about discovery – through the wholesome ingredients in the purest form, thoughtful flavour pairing that brings palate-pleasing sensation and unexpected twist to traditional recipes, inventive ways of cooking stem-to-root and nose-to-tail, and artful presentation that accentuates the restaurant’s culinary philosophy. A master-and-disciple team, chefs have meticulously devised a menu inspired by the pristine nature, shining light on recipes that call attention to local and sustainable sourcing, low waste, and zero frozen and processed ingredients, paying homage to food, land and its people.

La Scala’s signature dishes are a fusion of traditional and contemporary Italian quintessence with multiple textures and flavours subtly at play. Ingredients serve an important role at La Scala. The culinary team selects high-quality ingredients at their peak quality that are supplied by a group of artisan producers and growers work very closely with the Hotel, then compare and pair different ingredients to give a distinctive depth of character to each dish.

In keeping with the leisurely Italian lifestyle, La Scala also serves the set lunch menu that will change weekly with seasonal ingredients and the chef's special creations. Guests can select three courses for starter, main, and dessert at RMB138 or top-up RMB10 to order an additional pasta upon their liking.

The menu is accompanied by a selection of over 180 premium wines including Italian boutique wines, champagnes, dessert and fortified wines to deliver the most exquisite culinary experience to guests.

Inspired by the Italian Renaissance garden, the interior of La Scala showcases the classical notions through the use of hand-glazed, emerald green ceramic tiles, teakwood parquet flooring, and hanging lights framed by gridded wood columns, calling for a sense of contemporary sophistication. The Chef's Table is the focal point of the restaurant, putting the theatre of cooking on display where diners can enjoy the chefs' performance and flair.

"We are very committed to integrating food sustainability into our operations, along with other environmental stewardship initiatives undertaken in the hotel," says Thomas Schmitt-Glaeser, General Manager of The Sukhothai Shanghai. "La Scala does not represent a trend, it is a way of life."
